GOZO REAL ESTATE

Description

This lovely traditional farmhouse has been recently renovated (including rewiring and plumbing) to high standards with living accommodation designed around a central atrium which creates a double-height room flooded with light. The main living area is heated in winter with a large pellet stove and there is also air-conditioning throughout.

On one side of the central living area is a very long arched room with fully-fitted kitchen and spacious dining area leading to another living room opening onto the swimming pool. At the far end is a TV room which could also be used as another bedroom if required. There are two downstairs bedrooms, one with ensuite shower, and the other currently used as an office.

Ascending the stone stairs to the first floor you find a light and bright
